Project Overview

For those living with chronic illness, environmental factors such as air and water quality can have a dramatic impact on quality of life. This SOURCE user, Sheila, has had Parkinson's Disease for many years. In addition to her medical treatment, Sheila looked to improve her wellness through nutrition. As part of her search for solutions to improve her health, Sheila started looking into which water filter she needed to guarantee her water quality. She soon turned to SOURCE Hydropanels as the only solution to provide her with consistently safe, delicious drinking water. Sheila and her husband enjoy their SOURCE water and even provide bottles of it to their kids and friends.

SOURCE Usage and Satisfaction

“It’s a relief to know that what I drink won’t mess with my medications or hurt my health. Since the water tastes so good, I even find myself drinking more water than I did before.”

– Sheila F., Homeowner
