Project Overview

Previously dependent on well water for drinking, Holly knew she needed a water solution that would provide clean drinking water despite drought and unforeseen climate conditions. Lacking the peace of mind she needed, she began the search for a drinking water solution providing resilient, high-quality drinking water.

At her home in Oregon, Holly now has peace of mind knowing that if the power goes out, she will still have the water she needs to thrive. Making water in her own backyard, Holly drinks perfect water and even gives it to her farm animals to enjoy as well!

SOURCE Usage and Satisfaction

“The SOURCE team was easy to work with and believed in their mission. Now if I lose power, I will still have water!

– Holly B., Homeowner
